

Dave Croson

President – 2009-2010

Hello, my name is Dave Croson. I have worked in real estate for over sixteen years. I am currently a title insurance agent and a Realtor. I own and operate Stonewall Title & Escrow, Inc. along with my wife and business partner Mina Croson. We became active in VLTA in the mid 90's and have both served on committees and the board of directors. I am proud to say that we are the first husband and wife team to have both held the office of President of the Virginia Land Title Association.

I am passionate about the title industry, to the point of being obnoxious. I have a burden in my heart for the people in our industry who seem to only put round pegs in round holes without understanding the far reaching and enormous value of our profession. My goal is to increase the awareness of our industry's value to as many people who work in the title industry as possible.

On a personal note, I was a professional musician for over twenty years playing electric lead guitar in, mostly, rock & roll bands. Considering the nature of the life style that accompanies that career path, I am fortunate to have survived. I can seldom say or write anything that is not influenced by the amazing grace that has been shown to me by Christ, my Savior, who has raised me up and provided me the with the abundant life I experience today.
